We are delighted to be relaunching The Anglo-Hellenic League Runciman Award, under the joint sponsorship of the Athanasios C. Laskaridis Charitable Foundation and the A. G. Leventis Foundation.

The Award has in most years since 1986 rewarded the best book or books published in English about some aspect of Greece. This year, the relaunched prize will reward the best book published in 2019-2020. It is a particular pleasure to be relaunching the Runciman Award in the bicentennial year of the Greek revolution.

You are warmly invited to join us at our award ceremony, at which our Chair of Judges, Prof. Peter Frankopan, will announce the winner and talk about this year's books.

The keynote speech at the award ceremony will be given by Prof. Stathis Kalyvas on: "Why the Greek Revolution of 1821 still matters".

We hope and expect that the ceremony will be an opportunity to hear from the winner of this year's award. You can find out more details about this year's competition, including the long list and short list, on our website: www.runcimanaward.org.

The event will be introduced and chaired by John Kittmer, Chair of the League.

Stathis Kalyvas is Gladstone Professor of Government at the University of Oxford and a Fellow of All Souls. In 2019 he founded and directs the T. E. Lawrence Program on Conflict and Violence at All Souls College. Prof. Kalyvas obtained his BA from the University of Athens (1986) and his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago (1993), all in political science. He taught at Ohio State University, New York University, the University of Chicago, and Yale University before joining Oxford in 2018. He is the author of many books in Greek and several in English, the most recent of which are The Logic of Violence in Civil War (CUP, 2006) and Modern Greece: What Everyone Needs to Know (OUP, 2015).

His current research focuses on global trends in political violence with an additional interest in the history and politics of Greece.
